PiLA

MEET THE FELLOWS' ADVISORY COUNCIL (FAC)

Comprised of former PiLAnistas, the FAC aims to strengthen the PiLA network.

ANNIE AUSTIN

Georgetown University (2015) Endeavor Mexico 2016-17

Current Occupation: WeWork, Global Onboarding Senior Associate

Current City: New York City

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? Living in Mexico City, speaking Spanish every day, and the wonderful community I created while abroad!

Professional Interests: Entrepreneurship, high impact organizations,

Latin America/international business relations

MORGAN CLARK-YOUNGBLOOD

George Washington University-BS/MPH (2012) U.N. World Food Programme, Ecuador 2014-15

Current Occupation: Doctorate in Nursing Practice, Nurse-Midwife

Candidate, Emory University Current City: Atlanta, GA

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? The juice in Ecuador! As well as my wonderful co-pilanista at World Food Program, Sarah. I met some pretty incredible people in Ecuador and I am lucky to continue to have them in my life as mentors, inspiration, and a wonderful support systems.

Professional Interests: Global public health, immigrant & refugee health services, women's & maternal health, violence prevention, sexual & reproductive health services & rights, program evaluation

MATT DOUP

Brown University (2013) Endeavor Chile, 2013-14

Current Occupation: MBA Candidate at the Wharton School/MA Candidate, International Studies at the Lauder Institute, University of

Pennsylvania

Current City: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

KAYA TEN-POW

Princeton University (2013) Endeavor, Chile 2013-14

Current Occupation: Category Manager, Skillshare

Current City: New York, NY

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? All my friends and the pace of life! New York is such a drastic change from Puerto Varas!

ISABEL GARCÍA

Northwestern University (2015) Aprender con Interes, Mexico 2015-16

Current Occupation: Special Assistant to the President, FAIR Health Current City: New York City

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? Eating chilaquiles in the morning after a night out, living and laughing in Spanish, and, sharing meals and stories with teachers, parents and students in communities all throughout Mexico.

Professional Interests: Public Health, Social Justice, Asset-based Community Development, Nonprofits

KIM GORDON

University of Pennsylvania (2014) Comunidad Connect, Nicaragua 2014-15

Current Occupation: SapientRazorfish, Data Science Senior Associate

Current City: New York City

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? Speaking Spanish everyday, feeling immersed and self-sufficient in different Nica settings, and playing with the adorable chigüines in my community! Professional Interests: Data, Healthcare, Community Development, Microfinance

MAI ANN HEALY

Middlebury College (2009.5) Endeavor Chile Patagonia 2010-2011

Current Occupation: BioFiltro

Current City: Davis, CA

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? My friends! An amazing outdoorsy place to live at the foot of mountains and bordering lakes! And a great work/social life/hiking balance.

Professional Interests: Entrepreneurship, high impact organizations, water, impact investing, internationalization.

ABIGAIL KOFFLER

University of Pennsylvania (2015) Asociacion Cojolya, Guatemala 2015-16

Current Occupation: Freelance Writer

Current City: Brooklyn, NY

What do you miss most about your PiLA year?

I miss swimming in the lake, taking lanchas everywhere, hearing Tzutujil spoken, and buying avocados in the market. I remain so inspired by the community of Santiago and my former colleagues at Cojolya. The PiLA community of Santiago went on so many adventures together - from weekend trips to intense volcano hikes to elaborate dinner parties and I loved the spirit of discovery we embodied.

Professional Interests: Food writing, Education, Entrepreneurship, Vegetarian cooking, Media, Restaurants

NORA LEARY

Georgetown University (2008)

The Edge in College Preparation, Argentina 2010-11

Current Occupation: Co-Founder/Head of Marketing and Business

Development, Launchway Media Current City: Medellín, Colombia

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? Meeting other PiLAs from that were around Latin America, living in Buenos Aires, and learning from locals.

Professional Interests: Entrepreneurship, Latin American startups, female founders, and technology startups.

GUY MENTEL

Georgetown University (2014)

Cyrus R. Vance Center for International Justice, Colombia 2014-15

Current Occupation: J.D. Candidate at Georgetown University Law

Current City: Washington, D.C.

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? The ability to learn from and directly impact a part of the world that I deeply care about, while having the privilege to see the fruits of that labor on a near daily basis. People often view fellowships like these as a sort of altruistic service to a part of the world in need of assistance. For me, the Colombian people - from friends to colleagues - no doubt impacted my life more than I did theirs, through their example and daily inspiration pursuing peace against all odds.

Professional Interests: Human Rights Law

RACHEL PAK

University of Maryland, College Park (2016) Pueblo a Pueblo, Guatemala 2016-17

Current Occupation: Communications Coordinator, Semilla Nueva

Current City: Guatemala City

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? Living by Lake Atitlán and everyday moments of cultural exchange — me learning from the Santiago Tz'utujil community, and then having the opportunity to share parts of my Korean-American upbringing.

Professional Interests: Immigration and refugee policy, gender-based violence prevention work and services, storytelling

BRIAN REILLY

Princeton University (2014)

Comunidad Connect, Nicaragua 2014-15

Current Occupation: Educator

Current City: Urubamba, Peru (Bethesda, MD starting in August 2018)

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? My friends! The amazing, inspiring, pervasive civic engagement amongst Nica citizens. It almost seemed that everyone was an activist of some sort. I saw many examples attesting that "el pueblo unido jamás será vencido" in the communities that received me.

Professional Interests: peace education

KATIE SULLIVAN

Washington University in St. Louis (2013) Asociación Cojolya, Guatemala 2014-15

Current Occupation: Master's Candidate in the Global Human

Development program at Georgetown University

Current City: Washington, DC

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? I miss speaking Spanish constantly, waking up every day to the natural beauty of Lake Atitlán, and the camaraderie & friendships I developed w/ my co-workers, host family & other PiLAnistas based around the lake.

Professional Interests: ICT4D/technology for development, data collection and analysis, economic empowerment, gender, community development

NATALIE SHOUP

Princeton University (2012)
Developing Minds Foundation, Brazil / Colombia 2012-13

Current Occupation: Executive Director, Developing Minds Foundation Current City: Medellin, Colombia / Rio de Janeiro, Brazil What do you miss most about your PiLA year? I am incredibly lucky to have been able to return to the organizations I worked with during my PiLA year. I miss from that year the excitement of almost everything being new, discovering new places and food and getting to know new people that became lifelong friends.

Professional Interests: education, peacebuilding, data&development, data analytics

MICHELLE VELEZ

Villanova University (2014) Endeavor, Mexico 2014-15

Current Occupation: Development Manager at New Yorkers for Parks

Current City: New York

What do you miss most about your PiLA year?

Meeting so many different entrepreneurs from across Mexico and getting to share regular Sunday "comidas" with my family.

Professional Interests: sustainability, nonprofit fundraising, social impact/social justice

LAUREN WYMAN

Princeton University (2014)

UN World Food Programme, Panama and Colombia 2014-16

Current Occupation: Joint degree candidate MBA/Masters in Global

Affairs at Yale

Current City: Brussels, Belgium for an internship with an impact investor!

What do you miss most about your PiLA year? I was very lucky to have had two PiLA years to look back on. In addition to my friends, the beautiful scenes and speaking Spanish all the time, I really miss the music - hearing reggaeton blasting in the buses in Panama, electrocumbia during parties in Colombia, and, of course, salsa everywhere. Professional Interests: venture capital for social impact, humanitarian finance